

Queensland History Journal Policy

The Royal Historical Society of Queensland welcomes papers on the history of Queensland as well as the Commonwealth of Australia and adjacent islands of the Pacific. However, unless the topic is of national significance, papers relevant solely to states other than Queensland are not normally published. Authors need not be members of the Society.

Manuscripts should not exceed 6000 words and the submission of short papers is encouraged. Papers are editorially reviewed. Peer review is available for academics on request.

Manuscripts may be submitted by email to journal@queenslandhistory.org.au or by hard copy to the Editors, Queensland History Journal, PO Box 12057, Brisbane George Street, Qld, 4003.

They should be typed using double spacing with ample margins. Hard copies should be printed on one side of the page. Maps, photographs or other illustrations may be submitted as hard copies or digitally as jpg files. It is the responsibility of the author to obtain permission to publish images. Further requirements for submission are detailed in the Style Guide, which is available at www.queenslandhistory.org.au or on request from the Society.

It is a condition of publication in the Journal that the paper has not already been published or is not being published elsewhere. The author warrants to the Society that the article submitted to the Society for publication is an original work and does not contravene the Australian Copyright Act. Copyright in the text of each paper published in the Journal remains with the author, but the author gives to the Society a licence to reproduce the paper for Society purposes.

The Editors also welcome letters, particularly relating to papers previously published in the Journal to encourage debate and further research. Letters or extracts from them may be published in the Journal.

The Journal is published quarterly and the Society Bulletin is published monthly from February to December.

The Society's headquarters are located in the Commissariat Store, 115 William Street, Brisbane, which houses the Society's library and museum. The Society welcomes applications for membership from all persons interested in history. Lectures, seminars and conferences are amongst the many activities of the Society.
